MEETING OF GOVERNMENTS OF DEVELOPING COUNTRIES AND EXECUTING AGENCIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS DEVELOPMENT SYSTEM ON TECHNICAL COOPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES
New York, 23-24 May 1991

PROVISIONAL AGENDA AND ORGANIZATION OF WORK, INCLUDING THE LIST OF DOCUMENTS

Note by the Secretariat

1. At its fifth session, held from 18 to 22 May 1987, by its decision 5/7 of 27 May 1987, the High-level Committee on the Review of Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries decided that the sixth session of the High-level Committee could usefully be preceded by a two-day meeting of all executing agencies of the United Nations development system with the developing countries in order to ensure the adoption of effective measures to achieve the objectives of economic and technical cooperation among developing countries and requested the Administrator of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) to make the necessary arrangements to convene the meeting. The Committee also invited all executing agencies of the United Nations system dealing with TCDC to participate at the highest level at such a meeting.

2. At its sixth session, held from 18 to 22 September 1989, by its decision 6/3, the High-level Committee reaffirmed the validity of the recommendations contained in decision 5/7 and urged their implementation before the seventh session of the Committee in 1991.

3. The present note contains, in annexes I, II and III, respectively, the proposed agenda, the tentative schedule of work for the two-day Meeting of Governments of Developing Countries and Executing Agencies of the United Nations Development System on Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries, and the list of documents for the Meeting.

4. In order to facilitate and expedite the work of this Meeting, the secretariat has proposed that the Chairman-cum-Rapporteur of the Working Group of the sixth session of the High-level Committee be designated as Chairman-cum-Rapporteur of the Meeting.

5. The meetings for each of the two days of the Meeting will be scheduled from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

6. The provisional rules of procedure for the Working Group of the High-level Committee shall be applicable mutatis mutandis to the Meeting of Governments of Developing Countries and the Executing Agencies of the United Nations Development System. In this connection, it is suggested that the Meeting waive the relevant part of rule 16 of the rules of procedure which stipulates that the President - for this purpose, the Chairman - may declare a meeting open and permit the debate to proceed when representatives of at least one third of the participants are present.

7. Annex II contains a tentative schedule of work for the Meeting scheduled to convene on 23 and 24 May 1991 and should therefore be considered as provisional and indicative in nature, so that the Meeting, if it so desires, can revise its schedule of work, taking into account the limited time and services at its disposal.

MEETING OF GOVERNMENTS OF DEVELOPING COUNTRIES AND EXECUTING AGENCIES OF THE UNITED NATIONS DEVELOPMENT SYSTEM ON TECHNICAL COOPERATION AMONG DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN-CUM-RAPPORTEUR

1. Pursuant to decisions 5/7 and 6/3 of the High-level Committee on the Review of Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries (TCDC), the Meeting of Governments of Developing Countries with Executing Agencies of the United Nations Development System on TCDC was convened in New York on 23 and 24 May 1991.

2. H.E. Dr. Charles S. Flemming, Permanent Representative of Saint Lucia to the United Nations, Chairman-cum-Rapporteur of the Working Group of the sixth session of the High-level Committee, served as Chairman and concurrently as Rapporteur of the Meeting.

3. The Governments of 41 developing countries were represented at the meeting, which was attended also by representatives from 22 organizations of the United Nations development system. The list of participants is contained in annex I.

4. The Meeting adopted its agenda and programme of work as contained in document TCDC/WP/1991/L.1.

5. The list of documents provided by the Special Unit for TCDC as background material for the Meeting is contained in annex II.

6. The Meeting reviewed the activities of the organizations of the United Nations development system in supporting and promoting TCDC since the adoption in 1978 of the Buenos Aires Plan of Action for Promoting and Implementing Technical Cooperation among Developing Countries. It noted the progress achieved and the constraints encountered by the organizations in this effort.

7. The representative of Ghana, speaking on behalf of the Member States of the Group of 77, advocated a shorter period between the initiation of projects involving the use of the TCDC modality and their implementation. He also felt the need for greater coordination between agencies at the field level, and visualized better organization of an effective and common response to development problems requiring TCDC solutions. That could be facilitated by further integration of the TCDC modality in UNDP's and the agencies' rules, regulations and procedures concerning the execution of projects.

8. In pursuance of that goal, he recognized the catalytic role of the Special Unit for TCDC, which extended also to the mobilization of extrabudgetary resources to enhance TCDC activities. Similarly, the role of the focal points for TCDC of the United Nations agencies, including, inter alia, mobilization of extrabudgetary services for TCDC activities in their respective sectors, was recognized.

9. The question of the trend towards focusing TCDC programming exercises on fewer or single sectors was raised, as well as the extent of collaboration between UNDP resident representatives and United Nations executing agencies' representatives at the field level. It was affirmed that closer ties among United Nations representatives were important for the promotion of TCDC. A shorter gestation period for the programming exercises was also proposed. One representative addressed the question of strengthening the national focal point mechanisms. Several representatives emphasized the need to create a critical mass of TCDC activities at the national, regional and interregional levels for the growth and sustenance of those activities and, in that context, emphasized the important role that the United Nations agencies could play.

10. During the discussion, representatives of a number of United Nations agencies described some of their promotional and operational activities in support of TCDC. Several stressed the need for strengthening the implementation mechanism. They pointed out that the volume of TCDC activity financed from both their regular budgets and extrabudgetary programme resources had shown a constant increase. Several agencies described the importance they attached to the development of an adequate information base for TCDC, including the assistance of developing countries in preparing compendia of capacities and needs in their respective fields of competence. Several agency representatives drew attention to their work in supporting the creation of networks of developing country institutions, particularly in such fields as agricultural technology, various industrial development sub-sectors, population, health, environment and other programmes and educational innovation for development.

11. Further topics on which agency representatives commented included the special efforts being made to increase information dissemination about TCDC, the mobilization of funds for operational TCDC activities, and the need for increased national execution of TCDC activities. It was also proposed that an increased role be accorded to private sector and non-governmental organizations, including recognition of their potential as sources of funding for TCDC activities, that national TCDC focal points be strengthened, that training programmes for staff of United Nations organizations dealing with TCDC be organized and that an increased volume of publications on the needs and capacities of developing countries for TCDC be issued, organized by country and sector. Finally, the initiatives being taken to make national organizations themselves increasingly responsible for organizing and managing the exchange of domestic development service volunteer workers were highlighted.

12. To enhance the use of the TCDC modality in the technical cooperation activities of the organizations, the Meeting adopted the following recommendations for consideration by the High-level Committee at its seventh session:

(a) The reports of the annual meetings of TCDC focal points of organizations of the United Nations development system should be considered by the Administrative Committee on Coordination (ACC) within the framework for inter-organizational coordination for such action as it deems appropriate, in accordance with the recommendation of the Second Meeting of Focal Points, held in New York in February 1988;

(b) A special meeting of TCDC focal points of the organizations, to be convened by early 1992, should consider draft guidelines, to be prepared under the auspices of the Special Unit for TCDC, for the review of TCDC policies and procedures in the organizations, taking into account the report of the Group of Governmental Experts on the rules, regulations and procedures of the organizations of the United Nations development system concerning TCDC, as contained in document DP/1990/77;

(c) The draft guidelines thus prepared should be submitted through ACC to the High-level Committee for its consideration and adoption for subsequent implementation by the organizations;

(d) The implementation of the guidelines should be monitored by ACC on a regular basis;

(e) Information on any significant problems encountered in the process of implementation of the guidelines by the organizations should be provided by the Administrator in his biennial reports to the High-level Committee.
